

Council endorses grand jury probe

6-2 straw poll favors NAACP recommendation

A packed City Council chambers, predominantly black, Monday night heard the City Council back a grand jury investigation of the early Saturday disturbance at the Anthony Buckner Apartments.

The council voted 6-2 in favor of this course of action, which was urged by the local chapter of the NAACP. Republicans Robert Vit and Larry Stevenson were in the minority, saying they preferred to await the outcome of an investigation by the Sedalia Human Rights Commission.

Monday night's show of sentiment was considered a straw vote only, since the council was not officially in session. The brief official session that preceded the meeting dealt only with authorizing the Kelsey-Hayes bond sale.

The unusual session was the third involving members of the City Council following the disturbance at the public housing units early Saturday morning. Several blacks claimed the police used excessive force to quell the disturbance. Eight residents of the complex were arrested in the incident, and both sides reported injuries.

The NAACP maintained that a county grand jury was the only way of determining the facts surrounding the incident.

Allegation cited

The resolution was formally introduced by local attorney Stanley Cox, legal counsel for the NAACP.

The formal document presented to the council specifically cited "an allegation of illegal entry into a private residence by members of the Sedalia Police Department."

The charge was a reference to entry by police into the home of Mrs. Joann Hawkins, 354 West Saline. She and those in her home at the time have claimed the forced entry was unprovoked and unlawful. Det. John Fillicetti stated that the apartment was entered to apprehend a youth who yelled at him from Mrs. Hawkins' window and referred to him in a vulgar manner.

The resolution was signed by Mrs. Elnora Green, president, and Oscar Lawson, chairman of the legal redress committee of the NAACP.

"They evaluated all the possible forums whereby all the facts of this event could be examined and after that evaluation, they decided the only forum whereby all the facts could be learned was a grand jury," Cox told the council.

Lawson told the council that his committee was asking them to "pursue the legal avenue that will bring out all the facts."

He also called for a detached judgment based on the information uncovered, not on rumors.

"We must balance the scales of justice," implored Lawson. "Let us not be satisfied with a lot of scare talk and emotional talk."

Sid Harwell, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, said a subcommittee of his panel is investigating the incident. He said that probe will probably end late this week or early next week.

However, Police Chief William E. Miller informed the council he has asked Prosecuting Attorney Mark Kempton to study the possibility of filing state charges against those persons arrested in connection with the disturbance.

"Mr. Harwell, that will cancel any interviews with any of my men on the advice of the prosecuting attorney," said Miller.

William Turley, assistant prosecuting attorney, said his department had requested police officers not to make any statements on the case prior to a decision on filing state charges. He said any comments prior to the resolution of the cases might prejudice the outcome.

Harwell, in comments during and after the meeting, implied that Miller was employing a delay tactic by seeking the state charges. He said the prosecutor's decision would delay the work of his subcommittee. That subcommittee plans to interview several police officers involved in the incident.

Turley told Harwell he anticipated making a decision on filing state charges today or Wednesday.

There was little emotion shown at the meeting. The council's decision to seek the grand jury probe was greeted with silence. However, following the meeting several black leaders sounded notes of optimism.

"I think it's on the right track," Eugene Sims, chairman of the tenant association at the apartments, said following the meeting. "With the council giving approval on a straw vote of 6-2, this shows that they're as interested in resolving the problem as we are."

Only judge can call jury

Several officials had expected the crowded session to be unruly. However, it was ordered and direct, lasting only about one hour.

"I really think this is the best kind of showing," Sims said. "Many people thought it was going to be belligerent and it was not."

The original resolution was amended at the suggestion of Third Ward Democrat Carl Franklin to include the fact that the grand jury probe could not be limited in its scope.

Cox had noted in his presentation of the resolution that "there have been allegations by members of the Sedalia Police Department that their lives have been endangered." He said those allegations need to be cleared up and that a grand jury would be a way of doing just that.

Only Circuit Judge Donald Barnes can call a grand jury into session.

Judge sentences boy, 16, to electric chair death

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy who was convicted of stomping an elderly widow to death in a $6 robbery has been sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Frank Ross Jr. of DeSoto City, Fla., stood calmly and said nothing Monday as 10th Circuit Judge Clifton Kelly imposed the death penalty for the Nov. 15, 1976, murder of 64-year-old Helen Dixon of Avon Park.

"The idea of a teen-ager being executed by the state immediately invoked a natural feeling of repugnance and aversion," Kelly wrote in a footnote accompanying the death sentence.

"But there is a still greater feeling of repugnance and aversion when you consider that a helpless, wholly innocent, 64-year-old woman who was living alone in her own home was brutally killed," the judge wrote.

A six-man, six-woman jury had convicted Ross of first degree murder in February. The same jury deliberated only 17 minutes Monday before recommending the death penalty.

Ross' mother, Cressie Belcher, sat quietly as the sentence was pronounced.

"What had to be had to be," said Mrs. Belcher outside the courtroom.

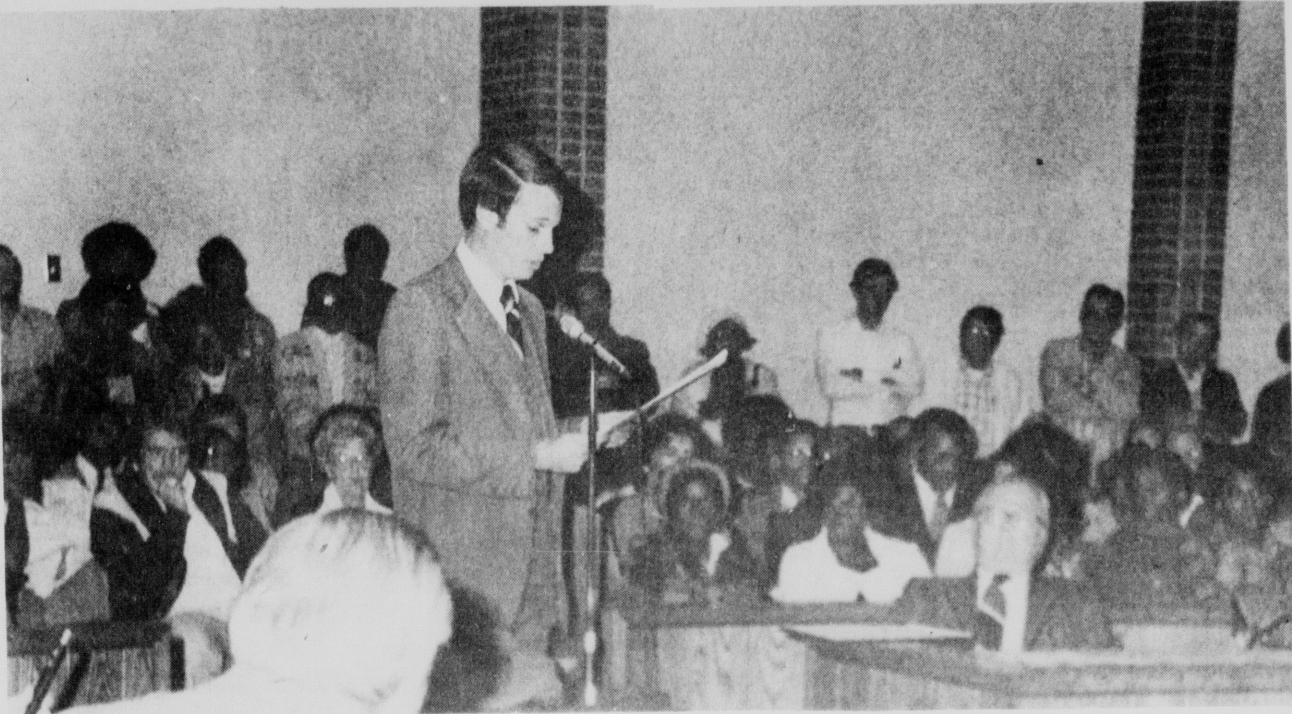

Highlands County Assistant Public Defender Nick Chommer said an appeal is automatic when a death penalty is imposed.

are not receiving parity prices of 100 per cent by then.

Durant defined parity as "the price the farmer receives for his product that would enable him to meet his costs, his labor and expenses and realize a reasonable profit."

A U.S. Department of Agriculture report released Aug. 15, 1977 was presented, showing that parity prices were not being received for any crop.

Durant explained to about 250 farmers from southwest Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri that there are three basic thrusts to the proposed strike:

Energy plan approval said 'a few weeks off'

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic Whip John Brademas said today that congressional approval of a national energy program is "a few weeks off," raising the possibility that President Carter may be forced to cancel his four-continent trip next month.

But House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said after he and Brademas, D-Ind., emerged from a White House breakfast with Carter that the legislation may be on the President's desk within three weeks.

Carter is scheduled to leave on the trip on Nov. 22, four weeks from today, but he has said he would postpone or cancel the journey if Congress is still working on the energy program.

Asked whether the President raised such a threat at the meeting today, as he had last week, Brademas said "he did not allude to that."

But Brademas agreed that the "few weeks" he predicted it may take to pass the legislation could delay approval until December.

O'Neill, unusually reticent, said no agreements on the legislation had been reached among House and Senate Democratic leaders at the meeting.

But, he said, "I think the President is doing everything he can."

Brademas said Carter emphasized his hope that the Senate will act quickly on the energy tax proposals coming out of the Senate Finance Committee so that conferees reconciling differences between the House and Senate bills can begin work on the entire energy program.

He said Carter told the congressional leaders he wanted an energy bill that treated consumers fairly, wouldn't enrich oil companies, encouraged reduced energy consumption and wouldn't destroy his hopes for a balanced budget.

The whip reported that Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the chairman of the Finance Committee who has been at odds with Carter on many aspects of the energy legislation, said he did not want to sign a conference report for a bill that Carter would veto.

The Senate today is debating whether to raise taxes to force fuel saving or cut them selectively to reward conservation.

How the question is settled in the Senate and in a Senate-House conference committee next month will have long-term effects on the U.S. economy and national security.

In the floor battle opening today, the Senate faces the choice of new taxes proposed by Carter and passed in reduced form by the House; the more than $40 billion worth of tax incentives approved by the Senate Finance Committee, or a combination of the two.

The Carter administration opposes the finance committee's proposals. But to avoid an anticipated defeat in the full Senate of the new taxes, the President's supporters would like the Senate to quickly approve the committee's bill and let the conference committee write the final legislation.

Even before reaching the Senate floor, the bill produced by the finance committee was under sharp attack.

Couple's goal to be accepted ends in brutal street slaying

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Robert and Carol Murray, a young white couple, tried for three years to win acceptance in a predominately black neighborhood. They lost.

Murray was beaten to death Sunday while walking home after making what his widow says was "his last attempt to get the neighborhood to accept him."

Now the young woman vows never to return to their home.

Murray went to an evening meeting a half-mile from his east Oakland home after offering to donate some athletic equipment for a new youth center.

The 28-year-old real estate salesman walked home at about 8:30 p.m. At about that time, homicide Sgt. Ed Subica said, a woman called police and reported "four or five of the local thugs are beating up on a white man."

Murray was unconscious when police arrived. He died two hours later during surgery at Vespers Hospital in nearby San Leandro.

Mrs. Murray said in an interview that trouble started right after they moved into their tract home in the old neighborhood called Sbrante Park, an area police say has one of Oakland's higher crime rates.

She said black neighbors called her husband names when he walked their dog. They urged their dogs to attack the Murrays' pet, the young woman recalled, and children chased her husband with sticks.

Once, Mrs. Murray recalled, as she was driving home a man leaped onto her car and smashed a window.

Last month, the people running a neighborhood rummage sale refused to accept their donated clothing because they were white, Mrs. Murray said.

The Murray slaying was on the agenda of a Monday night meeting of the Elmhurst Community District, which includes Sbrante Park.

"We've never had any problems like this out here before," board member Leonard Scott said. "This is probably just an isolated incident, not a racial incident."

Added Larena Epperson: "I heard they were nice people and made an effort to get along in the neighborhood and liked it here."

Police say they aren't aware of any similar attacks by blacks on white residents in the area.

Murray's father, realtor Bernie Murray, said his son didn't want to move because he liked their home. But things had deteriorated to the point where "he told me last week they would have to get out," Murray said.

Local members won't respond to riot calls

By MAX ERKILETIAN
Staff Writer

Members of Fire Fighters Local 823 will not respond to calls ordering them to perform riot control duty.

In the midst of Saturday's turmoil over the arrests of eight persons at the Anthony Buckner Apartments, members of the local union contacted their representative from the international organization, Stanton Gladden. Gladden reportedly told them they were not required to perform riot control. He further stated, according to local president Gary Sutton, that the international union would support any members refusing orders to respond for riot action.

"That is not our job," Sutton told The Democrat-Capital Tuesday morning. "Our job is to protect lives and fight fires, not hose down people."

Sutton further stated that Chief Willis Jabas told fire fighters Monday night they would not be required to combat riots.

Assistant Chief C. W. "Red" Gordy said he was in charge of the shift working when the disturbance at the apartments broke out. He said one of the drivers on duty reported that he would not respond to riot duty and that several other fire fighters felt the same way. The idea of possibly using the fire department in such a role had been explored by City Councilman Larry Stevenson.

"I called the west station to see how they felt," said Gordy. "They said that if there was a fire they would go, but that they would not go if it was to wet people down."

Gordy added, "That put me in a predicament, because if I got a call to go I wouldn't have anybody and I can't blame the guys."

Fire fighter Melvin Lange said he had contacted the secretary of the union who in turn contacted Gladden concerning the matter. He said the secretary reported Gladden's support of the fire fighter's refusal to respond to riot calls.

Stevenson, chairman of the City Council's fire and water committee, went to the fire central station early Saturday.

"Mr. Stevenson asked me if I would respond and I said no," Lange said.

Stevenson said he was informed that the fire fighters would refuse riot action.

Lange told The Democrat-Capital he had inquired about the union's position on riot control because, "I understood we were going to be called to do so."

Officials did consider the possibility of calling on the fire department to back up the police department during the Saturday night disturbance. However, no request for assistance was made.

A memo from Cpl. Timothy Mosier to Sgt. Harold Moore, the police officer in charge Saturday, detailed the fire fighter's position. Mosier's memo, view

Farm strike movement picks up steam in Kansas

PLAINS, Kan. (AP) — The American Agriculture Movement picked up more support for its proposed strike in a meeting of farmers Monday night in Plains, Kan.

The meeting was held simultaneously with a similar meeting in Plains, Ga., although there were no indications the two groups had any contact with each other.

Bob Durant, head of the movement office in Johnson, Kan., which is coordinating activities in Kansas, said the strike is set to begin Dec. 14 if farmers

"We will not buy" any nonessential items for farms or households, "We will not sell our products. Rather we will take government loans on our products, keep them off the market and yet keep control," and:

"We will not produce. We will not plant crops in the spring of 1978."

Another speaker, Jim Kramer, a Hugoton, Kan., farmer, cautioned that the strike was not aimed at hurting the local businessmen. He stressed the importance of supporting the businessmen in small farm communities, and said the strike was aimed at getting to the root of the problem.

Beth Cockreham, the wife of a farmer in Stanton County, Kan., who returned to a nursing career to get enough money to buy groceries for her family, read a letter she had written to President Jimmy Carter.

The letter, dated Sept. 21, 1977, compared the loss of the farmer's land to industry with the loss of the Indians' land decades before. Mrs. Cockreham, a member of the Miami Indian tribe of Oklahoma, said more farmers may be forced from their land under programs now in effect or those pending.

"The programs presented for agriculture are so ridiculous that we cannot accept them if we are to maintain our industry," the letter said. "We have already suffered great losses. We are faced with more losses under the programs in effect today."

"Should your energy package be enacted," Mrs. Cockreham told the President, "Our farm will cease to exist for we will be unable to operate due to the enormous expense and loss that we would accrue."

"While the cost of living and products necessary for crop production, loan interest, insurances and taxes have all increased, the farmer is selling his products at a decreased price. Contrary to all beliefs, the farmer is not making a profit."

A Cimarron, Kan., farmer, Leroy Addison, said that in France, farmers have achieved a $7.90 a bushel wheat price by going on strike.

He said he has learned within the past three weeks that the Japanese government is purchasing American wheat for about $2.00 a bushel, then selling it to bakers and millers for $6.00 a bushel and pocketing the difference.

State troopers arrest two men on pot charges

Two middle-aged Missouri men remained in the county jail at noon Tuesday pending the filing of formal charges against them in connection with marijuana arrests made early Tuesday morning by the Highway Patrol.

Sgt. Jim Watson said Robert Mueller, 51, Route 4, Reed Springs, was arrested by undercover agents about 1:25 a.m. Tuesday when he delivered 92 pounds of marijuana to undercover agents in Sedalia. The "buy" by the patrol had been previously arranged, Watson said, with the undercover agent agreeing to pay $4,000 for the drug.

Following interrogation of Mueller by the Patrol, Watson said he indicated Charles Meinershagen, 50, Route 1, Blackburn, was his supplier.

Troopers raided Meinershagen's home about 4:45 a.m. Tuesday, arresting him and confiscating about 185 pounds of marijuana found inside his home, Watson said. Another half-pound of marijuana was confiscated from Mueller's car.

The pair was expected to be arraigned in Magistrate Court Tuesday afternoon on sale and possession charges, both felonies.

Marshall man faces felony check charge

Darrell Wayne Vaught, 24, Marshall, remained in the county jail at noon in lieu of $2,500 pending his formal arraignment in Magistrate Court on felony charges of issuing a no funds check.

Arrested in Saline County on a Pettis County warrant, Vaught is charged with issuing a no funds check, drawn on the Commerce Bank of Tipton, to Food 4 Less on May 26.

Moniteau County also has an outstanding warrant for Vaught on similar charges, according to Pettis County officials.

Administration ponders South African sanctions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Andrew Young says he favors mandatory United Nations sanctions against South Africa but the Carter administration has not decided yet whether to go that far because of the white South African government's latest crackdown on blacks.

In a Security Council debate that began Monday, black African nations are demanding that the council order a mandatory arms embargo and other stringent international measures against South Africa.

Young, emerging from the first day's debate, replied "Yes" when asked by reporters whether he supports some form of sanctions against the Pretoria government.

No deadline on successor for Hermann

Jim Sprake, deputy state director of agriculture, said Tuesday efforts are underway to secure a successor to State Fair Director Jerry Hermann "as soon as possible," but added no definite deadline has been set.

Hermann was fired Friday after he refused to relinquish his post, as he had been asked to do by Agriculture Director Jack Runyan. He and his wife are scheduled to leave Sedalia by around Sunday, pending the completion of moving arrangements.

Sprake said "several" applications have been received from persons hoping to replace Hermann.

Sprake said Runyan is very concerned about selecting Hermann's successor because, "He considers the Fair director's position a very important position in the State Department of Agriculture."

Harold Hurd, Knob Noster, was earlier reported to be a strong candidate to succeed Hermann. Hurd could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Two persons hurt in three-car wreck

Two persons received apparently minor injuries about 3:30 p.m. Monday in a three-car collision just east of Marshall Junction on Interstate 70.

Treated at Fitzgibbon Memorial Hospital in Marshall were Loyd Purcell, 58, Marshall, and James Callahan, 64, Topeka, Kan., drivers of two cars involved. The third driver, Harold Stamper, 71, Mexico, was not injured.

The Highway Patrol reported the Purcell vehicle, eastbound on I-70, made a left turn in front of the Stamper vehicle, also eastbound on I-70. The Stamper car hit the Purcell car, and the Callahan vehicle, also eastbound, then hit the Stamper car.

by The Democrat-Capital, stated fire fighters had informed him that "they did not have to respond when called by the Police Department." Mosier's note added that fire fighters had asked for police support in responding to fires "in the area."

Commenting following Monday night's informal council session, Stevenson told The Democrat-Capital, "I'm not very proud of a fire department that wouldn't back the police department in a time of crisis."

Contacted late Monday, Barnes said he will not act until the council presents a formal resolution. "When the time comes when they ask, I'll ask the prosecuting attorney to make an investigation," said Barnes.

Barnes said the prosecutor's investigation would have to determine that illegal actions had been taken with intent to break the law.

"If there are no grounds for prosecuting an offense," said Barnes, "then we're not going to go into that expense."

He said a grand jury investigation would cost a minimum of between $5,000 and $10,000.

Barnes also said the earliest date a grand jury could be convened would be after Jan. 1. He explained that grand juries are called for the duration of a term of court. The current court term, which is set by the state Legislature, will end Nov. 28. The next term, the shortest, lasts only five weeks. He indicated that would not be enough time to conduct a thorough investigation of the allegations.

The most emotional plea for council action Monday night came from Lester Boggs, 108 East Cooper. He indicated racial problems were at the heart of the long-standing poor relationship between blacks and the police, and that this was common knowledge among blacks.

In sobbing tones, Boggs told the council, "If we are going to live together as people we'd better learn now, because we don't have much time left."

Man's death may be related to accident

Joseph W. "Willie" Anderson, 81, 2101 South Missouri, died Monday at Bothwell Hospital. He was injured in a car accident Sept. 5 at Broadway and Grand.

Anderson was a passenger in a car driven by Amy Lee Acker, 76. The Acker car was struck by a car driven west on Broadway by Donald Goodman, 18, 201 East 13th. Goodman pleaded guilty Sept. 20 in Municipal Court to a charge of disobeying a signal light. He was fined $20.

Police information officer Randall Silvey said the department will notify Prosecuting Attorney Mark Kempton of Anderson's death. Silvey said Kempton will probably request a coroner's report on Anderson before deciding if additional charges should now be filed against Goodman. If Anderson's death is found to be directly related to the accident, he would be the third traffic fatality in the city this year.

Survivors of Mr. Anderson include three sons, George Anderson and James Anderson, both of Smithton; Leonard Anderson, Marshall; and one daughter, Mrs. Homer (Helen) Garrison, Smithton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Flat Creek Baptist Church.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home.

Police investigating weekend car theft

Sedalia police are investigating the Saturday night theft of a car owned by Charlene F. Dirck, 115 East Tenth.

She told police she heard something between 1 and 2 a.m. Saturday and saw someone driving away in her car, which was recovered by police about 3:45 a.m. Saturday at the Derby service station on South Limit.

Police reported they have a suspect in the case.

In other police news, Ron H. Dabrowski, Warrensburg, reported he lost a total of $573 worth of items when his car was stolen from Malmo Motors Thursday night. Dabrowski reported a tape player, tapes, tools, an Air Force uniform, boots and speakers were in his 1977 Oldsmobile, valued at $6,000, when it was stolen.

A 1978 Cadillac, valued at about $12,000, wheel covers and other auto parts were also taken in that incident.

Police discovered a break-in at the Grinder Shop, 711 South Ohio, at 4:55 a.m. Tuesday. Entry was gained by prying open a window on the south side of the building.

Roger B. Olsen, owner, reported a stereo, two speakers and some ham and cheese, collectively valued at $165, were missing.

Mrs. Lisa Stahl

MARSHALL — Mrs. Dennis (Lisa) Stahl, 21, died Monday morning at Bothwell Hospital.

She was born Sept. 2, 1956, at Carrollton, daughter of Paul and Fern Warner Houseworth. She was married on July 7, 1974, to Dennis Stahl, who survives of the home here.

Mrs. Stahl was graduated from Carrollton High School. She was a sales clerk at the MFA Hardware Store here. She was a member of the Carrollton Baptist Church.

Also surviving are a daughter, Miss Emily Gayle Stahl, of the home; her parents, of Carrollton; three brothers, Douglas Houseworth, Jamestown, N.C.; Dennis and David Houseworth, both of Carrollton; three sisters, Mrs. Linda Markworth, Higginsville; Mrs. Paula Wilson, Carrollton; and Mrs. Wanda Bartlett, Bogard, Mo.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Reser Funeral Home here.

Burial will be in the Ridge Park Cemetery here.

Friends may call from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the funeral home.

Earl A. Braden

STOVER — Earl A. Braden, 79, died Sunday at Marshall.

He was born April 10, 1898, in Morgan County, the son of Rice and Jennie Cowell Braden.

Mr. Braden was retired from the Rock Island Railroad and was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include one son, Conrad Braden, Stover; one daughter, Mrs. LaVern Dority, Marshall; three brothers, Ora Braden, Mexico; Lindel Braden, Stover; Elry Braden, Mitchell, S.D.; three sisters, Mrs. Henry Bush, Stover; Mrs. Newton Bingham, Kansas City, Kan.; Mrs. Rita Wilson, Kalamazoo, Mich.; seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Heart disease a silent killer

Dear Dr. Lamb — I can't seem to get the answer to my questions. I am a male, 67, 175 pounds and 5 feet 8. I have never been in a hospital until two weeks ago and in general have had excellent health, no coffee, liquor or tobacco.

Recently I felt a numbness in my arm, so I had a complete physical, brain wave tracing, electrocardiogram and the works. I was told I was in excellent health and nothing was amiss.

One day after receiving this report I suffered a heart attack and am waiting to learn if I will need a bypass operation.

Wouldn't some phase of this complete physical examination indicate some warning of a clot formation?

What warning sign might be looked for in case of a future attack? Apparently numbness is not sufficient.

Dear Reader — "I think I've heard that song before." Many people don't seem to realize that heart disease is a "silent killer." You may not have a single symptom, even numbness, before the heart attack strikes. A healthy appearing man in his middle 40s may suddenly crumple over with chest pain and be dead in minutes. That is why people simply must have a preventive program. When the first sign or symptom is an attack causing death, it is too late to do anything about it.

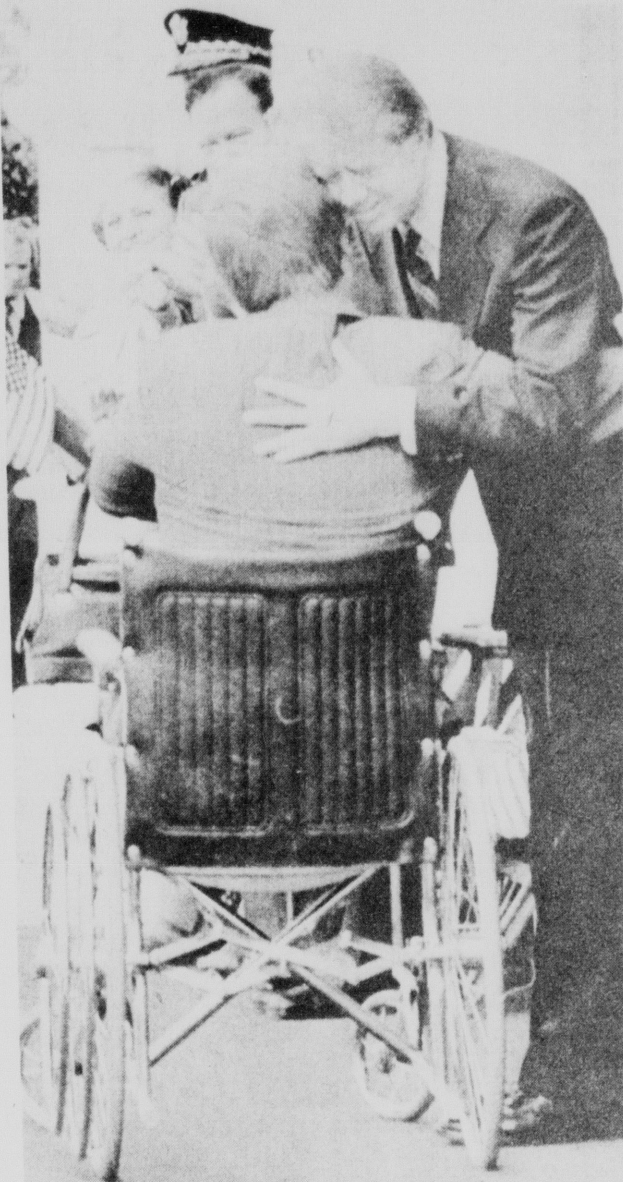

Also it doesn't make any difference what or who is at the hospital if you are dead on arrival. The best doctors and facilities in the world will not help then.

The frequency of this problem is why I recommend that all adults should learn how to aid a victim of heart attack. You simply do not know when it is going to happen, even after a good medical examination. When a major portion of a population learns what to do the death rate can be cut in half as has occurred in Seattle, Washington. I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-4, Save A Life: Heart and Lung Arrest, so you can learn more about this.

Numbness of the arm can be caused by many things, including bursitis and arthritis. Heart pain is more apt to be of short duration, unless it is an actual attack. The disease is actually in the artery going to the heart muscle. There is no way to see these arteries unless you do special X-ray examinations of the type I presume you will have to see whether you need a bypass operation. The pain and findings of a heart attack are caused when the heart muscle is not getting enough blood. That may not occur until the moment that the artery is blocked.

Exercise tests with electrocardiograms help to detect those likely to have trouble. Otherwise the risk factors of increased blood cholesterol, high blood pressure and cigarette smoking are the main things that indicate the possibility of having an attack. (NEA)

City receives FAA approval on site of new air terminal

The city has received approval from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) on the proposed construction site of a new terminal building at the city airport, and will begin advertising for bids this week.

Airport Board Chairman D.R. Landwehr, who announced the go-ahead decision at a board meeting Monday night, said the city now has until Dec. 20 to advertise, accept a bid and begin construction.

Construction of the building will be funded with a $43,000 grant from the Economic Development Administration (EDA). According to the terms of the grant, work on the project must start within 90 days from the day of notification, Sept. 19.

Landwehr said he plans to check with City Clerk Ralph Dedrick about procedure for letting the bid, and then hopes to hold a pre-bid conference Nov. 14 with any contractors interested in submitting bids.

In order to comply with EDA rules, the city must spend at least 10 per cent of the grant funds, or $4,300, with minority contractors or businessmen, he said. Landwehr said the reason for the pre-bid conference is to make sure any prospective contractors understand the rules and are prepared to abide by them.

Landwehr said he expects bids to be opened at the Nov. 21 City Council meeting, and said the Airport Board probably will meet Nov. 22 to accept or reject the bids.

The new 32-by-47-foot terminal will be built at the north-central end of the airport, just off Boonville Road.

Landwehr said the city also plans to amend a grant application submitted to the FAA almost two years ago to include a request for funds for taxiway lighting, security fencing and additional roadways.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of board member Norman Capps, who has moved outside the city limits.

Landwehr also announced the city had received a check for $1,980 from John Knaus for its share of the revenue from a bean crop harvested on city airport land.

PSC appointment due: Teasdale

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — At least one of two pending appointments to the Missouri Public Service Commission should be made within the next two weeks, according to Gov. Joseph Teasdale.

But Teasdale told newsmen on Monday that he has yet to decide whether he will rename consumer advocate Alberta Slavin to the utility-regulating panel. He said he is waiting for a legal opinion on her possible reappointment from his attorney Thomas Larson and has not sought assistance from the attorney general because he feels as governor he must make the final decision on appointments.

After failing to meet past self-imposed deadlines for appointments, Teasdale, setting new deadlines, said he would also like to find a replacement for resigning PSC Chairman James Mulvaney by early November but indicated that would probably not be possible.

The governor added that he would make no decision on who will be the new commission chairman until he has made the two pending appointments.

He also said he would begin interviewing new candidates for state revenue director within the next 14 days but set no specific deadline for appointment a replacement for James LePage. He originally said he planned to replace LePage by early October, but his top choice turned him down a week ago.

On a local matter, Teasdale said he would be awaiting the recommendation of the Boone County Democratic Committee on a successor to that county's clerk, Murray Glascock. Glascock submitted his resignation earlier in the day after being indicted this month on 16 counts of stealing county funds.

Mrs. Slavin served on the PSC for about six weeks this summer but resigned when it became apparent she could not win Senate confirmation of her controversial appointment. Because she had already served as a commissioner and did not receive Senate confirmation, a question has been raised about whether she can legally be appointed again.

Mulvaney announced earlier this month that he would resign to take a federal job as soon as a successor was named.

"It's very important that we quickly have a full complement on the commission so that these major cases that are coming up can be handled," Teasdale said. "But I'm holding out to find the best people I can for this job."

Teasdale did not mention any new candidates for the two PSC seats.

ONE HEALTH CARE PLAN LOOKS AS GOOD AS THE NEXT. UNTIL YOU GET SICK.

When people buy a health care plan, they often base their decision only on cost. And that's too bad.

How much the plan covers is what's really crucial. Because if you aren't covered adequately, you might find out later. The hard way.

That's why you should know how much help you can expect from your health coverage. And just how much it's going to take care of if you get sick and end up in the hospital.

Or if someone in the family needs X-rays. Or emergency room treatment. Or on-going outpatient treatment.

BLUE CROSS AND BLUE SHIELD COVERAGE IS BETTER.

In almost every case, when you buy one plan because it's cheaper than another, you'll get what you pay for. Less.

But enroll in a Blue Cross and Blue Shield program and you get better coverage. Period.

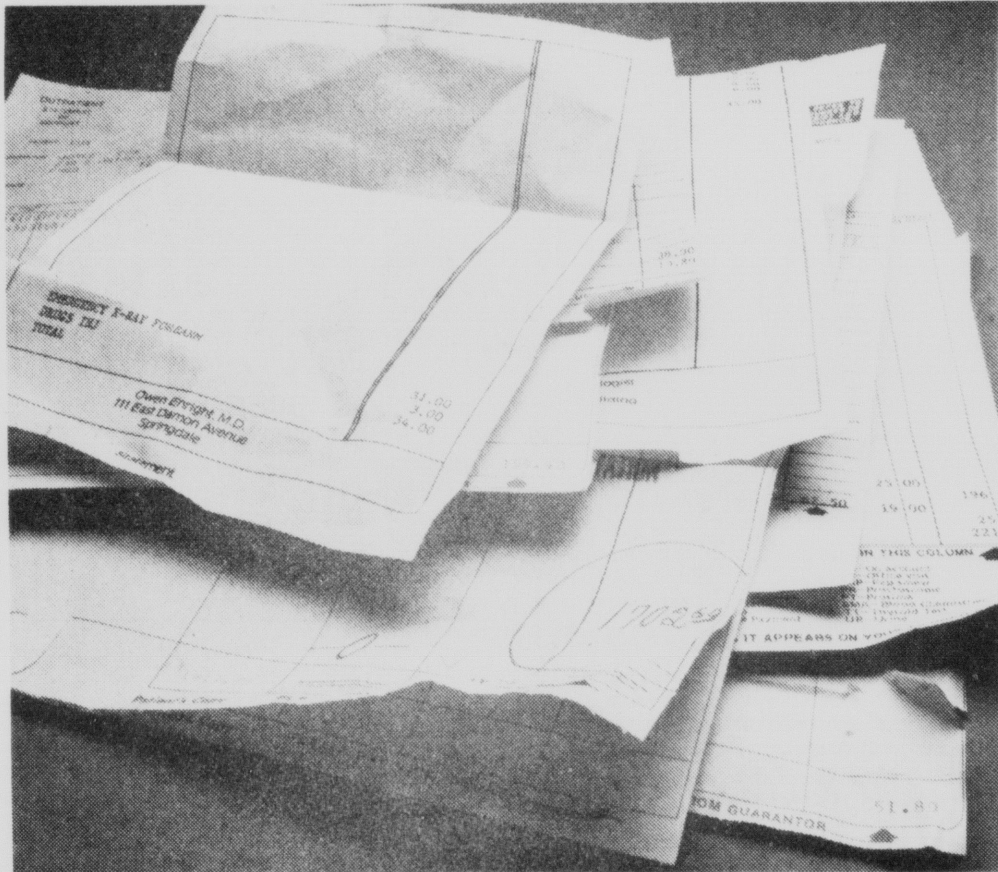

True, our program might cost more. But when you consider how high the cost of health care has gotten, it's worth every dollar.

LET THE FIGURES SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.

Treatment for almost anything nowadays simply costs more than it used to.

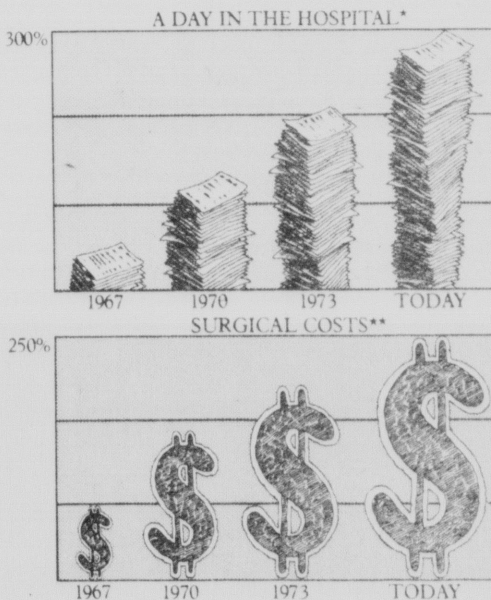

So if you have to spend time in the hospital, chances are you could have to spend a lot of money. Unless you have Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage.

These charts tell the story. The first shows the jump in cost for a day in the hospital. If you were hospitalized tomorrow, the bill could be 300% higher than it would have been ten years ago for the same treatment.

Surgery costs are higher, too. The second chart shows the increased costs for common surgical procedures and required medical services—up as much as 250% in just ten years.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans all across the country are working harder than ever to develop programs to try to keep these costs down.

But buying cheaper health care coverage really doesn't help. With rising health care costs a fact of life, you need the comprehensive coverage of our program more than ever.

So even if you pay more for Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage, it's worth it. Because what you really can't afford is coverage that costs you less in the first place, but ends up costing you more later.

When it counts.

The best health care coverage you can buy.

Our IWY delegate sheds some light

Eleanore Wasson, Route 4, a member of the Missouri delegation to the International Women's Year convention in Houston next month, confirmed, in an interview in Sunday's paper, the intrigue we suspected was present in the drafting of the Missouri resolutions to be carried to the IWY convention.

Missouri now has the anomaly of 30 "pro-family" delegates going to Houston carrying 11 resolutions, several of which sound like they might be even a little radical for NOW. Among other things, they call for federally-funded and planned sex education on all grade levels, the rights of homosexuals to raise children, ERA ratification, and abortion on demand for all women, paid for with federal funds. Another cutie, which we missed the first time around, would make "acts of racism and sexism" criminal offenses, with stiff penalties. Other resolutions are less controversial in nature.

Mrs. Jean Berg, chairman of the coordinating committee that rammed through the resolutions and carefully stacked the original panel, ridicules the Missouri delegation that is opposed to most of the above as being out of "the mainstream of things" and unrepresentative of the women of Missouri.

On the contrary, we feel the delegation is much closer to the thinking of Missouri women than those whom Mrs. Berg represents. If the views reflected in the resolutions represent the "mainstream," then we suspect that most Missouri women would be content to remain in a tributary.

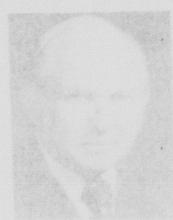

Mrs. Wasson says she hopes many Missouri women will write their congressmen to protest the rigged manner in which the Missouri IWY convention was held last June. After all, it was stiff penalties. Other resolutions your tax money that fueled this railroad job.

Out in grassroots, people are thinking

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

PETERSBURG, Va. — Once they get away from sports, TV and wholly personal concerns, what are the American people talking about this fall? If Petersburg, Va., is at all typical, they're talking about a wide range of national issues.

Kilpatrick

In some ways, Petersburg may be as typical as you can get. It's a town of 36,000, situated in farming country 35 miles south of Richmond. Nearly all of its 8,900 families are native-born Americans, three-quarters of the residents were born in Virginia. In terms of income, education and employment, Petersburg is just about average for the South.

The town is typical in this way also, that it supports a Public Forum, sponsored by the First Baptist Church. A thousand dues-paying members gather in the new consolidated high school to hear a lecture. Then the audience has a chance to submit questions. Last week the audience wrote out 124 questions and sent them to an on-stage panel.

Sitting through the questions, an observer is struck by their variety — and by the depth of information they reveal. Small-town America is not composed of ignorant hicks. Obviously, the people who live in the Petersburgs of this country are reading newspapers and news magazines; they are keeping up with the news on TV; they are keenly aware of current events in Washington.

Exactly half of the questions dealt with domestic politics or government. Jimmy Carter evidently is in trouble. One after another, members of the audience spoke of the President's "inadequate" energy program or his "absence of leadership." A woman asked, "Why can't he get along with Congress? After all, it's run by his own party." One question dealt in plainly contemptuous terms with Brother Billy's earnings "on the carnival circuit." Four questions — two of them evidencing sympathy, two plainly hostile — dealt with former President Nixon.

Congress fares no better than the White House in the eyes of small-town America. "Is it apathy, or ignorance, or just what makes the general public elect, term after term, senators and representatives who are insensitive to the public needs? And how can congressmen give themselves raise after raise and continue to talk of curbing inflation?"

Half a dozen questions dealt knowledgeably with the federal debt, which was then in the news, and with federal finances generally. At least in Petersburg, Va., people worry about deficit spending. They believe the deficits fuel inflation, and they want a balanced budget. But none of the questions indicated enthusiasm either for higher taxes or for reduced outlays.

After politics and government, the Bakke case commanded the greatest interest. The predominantly white audience appeared to be overwhelmingly against minority quotas at state institutions of higher learning, but several questions indicated deep concern for the training of black doctors if racial preferences are forbidden. Twenty-odd years ago, this southside Virginia town would have phrased its questions differently. Attitudes do change as time goes by.

Except for a single question about the Middle East, all the questions in foreign affairs had to do with the Panama Canal. Here one perceived no doubts at all. Petersburg, Va., wants no part of a "giveaway." President Carter's vigorous support of the pending treaties evidently has cost him with his Southern constituents.

Members of the audience had questions about the press — tough questions, suggesting significant hostility toward the media. A couple of questions dealt with proposals for the direct election of presidents. One question asked about ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. There were questions about the cruise missile, the B-1 bomber and neutron bomb. Six persons asked about Bert Lance; none of them seemed to admire the former budget director.

These are the very issues, of course, that occupy Washington correspondents all the time. Sometimes we wonder if our concerns are truly shared beyond the Potomac. To spend an evening in a small town high-school auditorium is to gain reassurance: Americans care.

Breath, not death, the issue

WASHINGTON—A news item out of Chicago reports that the American Cancer Society has decided to launch a new advertising campaign entitled, "Smoking Stinks," aimed at teen-agers who are buying cigarettes. The campaign will publicize the fact that smoking causes bad breath.

Buchwald

The reason for the switch is that studies showed that while most teen-agers do not fear death, they are, thanks to TV, frightened silly of bad breath.

I believe the Cancer Society is on the right track. Anyone who watches television knows that death is not the ultimate put-down in our American culture.

Teen-agers are fed a daily diet of murders and killings on television programs every day, and most of them accept it as one of those things. But they are aware, from watching the commercials, that bad breath is no laughing matter and no matter who you are you could be a victim of it.

I know this from personal experience. I was watching a TV program the other night with some young people in which there was a knife, a rape and a shootout. I lost count after five people were killed.

No one in the room except me seemed bothered by it.

The commercials were something else.

In one, a young man took his date home and refused to kiss her. She went inside in tears.

The two young ladies watching with me were riveted to their seats.

Fortunately, the young woman's mother was still up and she explained to her daughter what the problem was. It was BAD BREATH. The mother gave her daughter a bottle filled with a green liquid. The daughter protested that she had already used a mouthwash. But the mother said, "This one is different. It freshens your mouth for 24 hours."

In the next scene the same boy took the daughter home and kissed her fully on the mouth. "Can I see you again?" the boy asked.

Inside the house the girl rushed into her mother's arms. "How was your date?" the mother asked. "Wonderful," the girl replied. "Thanks to you and —"

My two young lady visitors breathed a sigh of relief. They identified with the poor girl and it seemed that the problem had been resolved to everyone's satisfaction.

A few commercials later it was the boys' turn to squirm. The scene took place in a locker room. The star basketball player had just scored the winning play but all his teammates were ignoring him.

The young men in my living room stared intently at the screen.

Finally, the coach came over to the boy and said, "Nice game," and handed the star a can of underarm deodorant. The boy took the can and sprayed it under his arms. In seconds the entire team gathered around him and congratulated him on his game.

"All right," one of the young men in the living room said, which is, as I understand it, the highest compliment a teen-ager can pay to anyone or anything.

"Do the knifings and rapes and killings bother you?" I asked.

They all looked at me as if I was crazy.

"It's only a TV show," one of the teen-agers said.

"But the bad breath and underarm deodorants are for real?"

"Well, yeh," someone replied. "I mean that's life. No one likes anyone who smells bad."

Unfortunately, the next commercial had to do with constipation. It showed an old man who didn't want to go fishing until his wife gave him a new mint-flavored laxative.

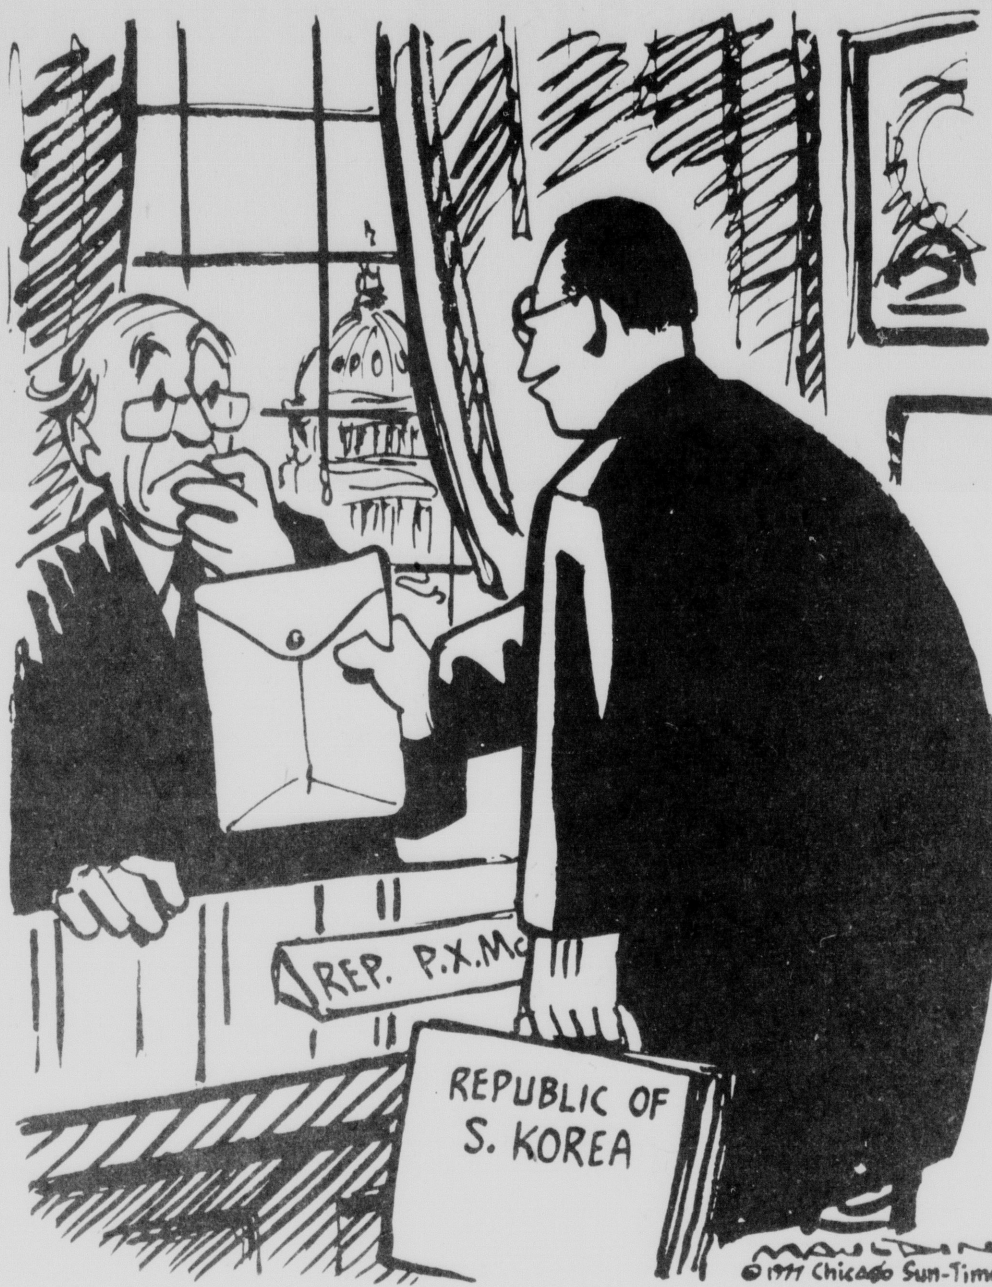

The kids laughed at this one.

"What's so damn funny?" I wanted to know.

"Who ever heard of a guy who wouldn't go fishing until his wife gave him a new laxative?" a teen-ager said.

It suddenly dawned on me that these kids were in a world of their own, and the American Cancer Society's new bad breath campaign just might work.

Merry-go-round

Federal cancer drive in wrong direction?

By JACK ANDERSON and
LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The National Cancer Institute, which is waging the war on mankind's most dreaded disease, may be leading the charge in the wrong direction.

Although most cancer is caused by substances in the environment, less than one-fifth of the institute's $819 million budget is devoted to cancer prevention. Congressional investigators have concluded, therefore, that the giant institute is spending too much of its money looking for exotic cures.

For example, the institute has spent nearly $25 million on a program to develop "safer" cigarettes. "One might ask for an explanation in view of the unanimous opinion that smoking is related to cancer," declares a confidential House memo prepared for Rep. Andrew Maguire, D-N.J. "Shouldn't this cost be borne by the tobacco industry?"

The head of the safe cigarette program, Dr. Gio Gori, agreed that "any cigarette is hazardous ... Our efforts to develop cigarettes with less tar and nicotine may help the tobacco industry, but it will benefit the country's 55 million smokers more." He added that the institute is trying to develop drugs to help people stop smoking altogether.

Meanwhile, the institute has not yet tested most of the 1,900 chemicals suspected of causing cancer. It has completed only 13 of 400 scheduled tests and is still working on such substances as cholesterol, castor oil, Tris, saccharin, gum arabic, cosmetics, acetic acid, pesticides and various food colorings.

"We've been caught with our pants down," an institute spokesman confessed. "It takes time to test these new substances. We're trying to catch up on the backlog," he explained.

At the same time, the House memo states, "Environmental research has been looked upon as second-class research," and most private research funded by the institute has not focused on the environmental causes of cancer.

The estimated costs of regulating chemical hazards, the memo adds, "are largely based on information from the industry to be regulated." Corporations once complained, for instance, that it would cost $65 million and 1.6 million jobs to reduce their use of cancer-causing vinyl chloride, but they have since adjusted at very little cost and few reductions in jobs.

Nobel Prize winner James Watson, who advised the institute for two years, called its war on cancer a "total sham" that consists mostly of "political logrolling."

The House investigations subcommittee may ask the institute to issue annual reports describing what action needs to be taken against cancer-causing substances. The institute, however, is expected to refuse. The subcommittee plans to hold hearings soon on the institute's shortcomings.

BOYCOTT BROUHAHA: The Commerce Department appears to be seeking a way for American companies to boycott Israel — supposedly a violation of U.S. law.

Last year, Congress barred businesses from complying with the Arab boycott of Israel and asked commerce officials to draft regulations to put the law into effect. But congressional sources complain that the regulations contain loopholes large enough to drive an oil tanker through.

The sources say the language of at least half a dozen exemptions would enable companies to go along with the boycott without fear of prosecution. The House consumer and monetary affairs subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., will hold hearings today on the issue.

Surprisingly, commerce official Stanley Marcus, who helped formulate the loophole-ridden regulations, has already briefed Arab and Israeli leaders on them. Now that the Mideast leaders have been briefed, our sources maintain, it will be difficult to change the draft regulations.

Marcus insisted, however, that he told the Arabs and Israelis the rules were not yet final. He contended the language will carry out the "full intent" of Congress in halting the Arab boycott.

This menu wakes up blueberry fans

By AILEEN CLAIRE

Pancake and french toast fanciers can whip up a different breakfast or brunch treat using plain white bread as a base and blueberries as the tasty fillings.

Youngsters, especially, will enjoy the blueberry french toast sandwiches which you may want to top with a dip of ice cream or frozen yogurt and serve as a dessert.

BLUEBERRY CRUMB PANCAKES

1 loaf (1 lb) unsliced firm type white bread, crumbled
4 eggs
½ cup sugar
2 tsp. vanilla
3 cups milk
2 tsp. baking powder
3 cups fresh or frozen blueberries, rinsed and drained
Butter or margarine

In a large bowl, mix bread, eggs, sugar, vanilla, milk and baking powder. Beat until mixture is well blended and bread is finely mixed into batter. Fold in blueberries. Lightly butter a griddle and drop mixture by one-fourth cupfuls onto preheated griddle. Brown on one side, turn and brown on the other side. Serve hot topped with hot blueberry syrup and pats of butter. Makes 6 servings.

BLUEBERRY FRENCH TOAST SANDWICHES

12 slices white bread
3 eggs

In a bowl, mix eggs, milk, vanilla and sugar until smooth. Dip 6 of the slices of firm white bread into egg mixture and place on a cookie sheet that has been brushed with one-third of the butter. Top bread with blueberries and sprinkle with brown sugar. Dip remaining bread slices into egg mixture and place over blueberries. Brush sandwiches with remaining melted butter. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until crisp and brown. Serve warm topped with warm blueberry syrup. Makes 6 servings.

Suds keep the kettle black

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — and Mrs. P.F. — Many years ago, perhaps 50, I learned that it was easy to fasten the rear supporters to a girdle if they were done first and then the front ones. Even at age 80 I still have no trouble doing it this way. — BERNADETTE

DEAR POLLY — To get my tennis shoes nice and white I wet them and then sprinkle a household cleanser that has bleach in it over the wet shoes and scrub with a hand brush. Rinse well and wipe dry and then put in the sun to finish the job. I have also tried this on old bras that have become dark under the arms and most of the stains come out. — ANNA

DEAR POLLY — A lady I do housekeeping for asked me to use baby oil and a soft diaper-like cloth to clean stainless steel oven door, counter tops, appliances, etc. It really takes the streaks and smudges off and leaves the kitchen shiny. It is economical, too. (Polly's note — Baby oil is one of those old standbys that does most anything, as vinegar does.)

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I have an antique black iron water kettle that I would like to clean and would like to know what is best to use for this. Also what can I do to scare away the ants that come around my sink. —THELMA

DEAR THELMA — I presume you have the sort of iron kettle that our ancestors used for boiling clothes or preserving over an open fire out of doors. Wash in hot suds and put baking soda in the last rinse to help prevent rusting. Dry thoroughly. If any rust spots are now present remove them with scouring powder. If there is a heavy build-up on the outside of the kettle burn this off in your outdoor grille but do not try this in the house. Sprinkle salt around your sink with a generous hand. If this does not scare away the ants try peelings from cucumbers. When peeling one put skins where you think they enter and leave until they dry up. Both these are nice clean ways and I use the cucumber peels as a preventative measure even though I have seen no ants. — POLLY.

Forgotten bread enjoys recognition

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Although American cooks excel in baking hot breads, Yam Biscuits have never come into their own. A number of present-day comprehensive cookbooks I have searched have neglected this beguiling bread.

Yet Yam Biscuits have been with us since at least 1871. In a cookbook copyrighted that year, by an author who lived in Raleigh, N.C., there's a recipe for them.

However, my favorite Yam Biscuit recipe comes from the "Ocracoke Cook Book," a slender modern compilation published by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the United Methodist Church, Ocracoke, N. C. A friend of mine visited Ocracoke four or five years ago and brought me a copy. Perhaps this booklet (undated) is still in print.

Curious about Ocracoke, I looked it up in a travel guide and found it is one of the chain of narrow sandy islands stretching from Cape Lookout to Back Bay, Va., called the Outer Banks. The guide notes Ocracoke was settled in the 17th century, so perhaps Yam

YAM BISCUITS A LA HILDA SCARBOROUGH

1¾ pounds (scant) yams
½ cup solid white shortening
1½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar

Scrub the yams in cold water, do not pare; cover them with boiling water and boil in a covered saucepan just until tender when pierced with a fork. Drain; remove skins and mash; measure enough to make 2 cups; reserve any remaining for some other use. With a spoon, beat the shortening into the 2 cups mashed hot yams until blended; cool.

In a medium-size bowl stir together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add the yam mixture and work together until blended. If dough is very sticky, add flour sparingly.

On a pastry cloth with a stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out ½-inch thick. With a floured round 2-inch cutter, cut out biscuits. Place slightly apart on an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until browned — 15 to 18 minutes. (Bottoms of the biscuits will be very dark, but they will not taste scorched.) Rush to the table while they are still puffy and hot; they will sink slightly as they cool. As Mrs. Scarborough says, "They are crusty outside and soft inside. Serve them with plenty of butter."

Makes almost 2 dozen.

South wanted to know why North hadn't used Stayman to find the 4-4 heart fit. North replied that he felt three notrump would have been as good a contract as four hearts and that it was just too bad that three out of three finesses had been wrong.

They went on to the next hand without either one seeing that three notrump could have been made in spite of all the misplaced kings. South had chucked his contract at trick one when he put his queen of clubs on West's jack. East had taken his king and returned the suit to set up two more club tricks for West.

South should have risen with dummy's ace of clubs at trick one and knocked out the ace of hearts.

West would have won, but would also have been helpless. If he led the 10 of clubs dummy's queen would force East's king and leave South's nine as the master club. If West led a low club, the three would be played from dummy and East would have to play the king. Either way South would score nine tricks.

ASK THE JACOBYs

We have been asked several questions on the skip bid warning in duplicate.

A player who is about to bid more than necessary, such as an opening bid of three spades, has the right to announce: "I am about to make a skip bid!" He doesn't have to do this, but if he does, the next player is supposed to think for about 10 seconds before acting.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Ann Landers

He is in the jailhouse now

Dear Ann Landers. My husband, who is actually a pleasant, well-behaved, law-abiding man, has got himself into a peck of trouble. He ignored several dozen traffic tickets and showed up to argue his case — fortified by a little "bottled courage." He got mouthy with the judge and was given a choice — $100 fine or 15 days in jail. He chose jail.

We have three small children — two boys, seven and five years of age, and a baby girl 10 months old. I am just sick to think that my children will have the stigma of their father's jail record all their lives.

Please tell me what to say to them. I have worried myself sick over how to break the news. I need your help. — Ashamed And Tongue-Tied Mother

Dear Mother: It doesn't make much difference what you tell the girl, but I suggest you tell the boys the truth.

Explain that Daddy is not a bad man and he didn't hurt anyone. Tell them people who drive cars must follow certain rules or they will get into trouble with the police — and this is what happened to their daddy. Explain that his punishment is to spend 15 days in jail and that's why he won't be home for a while.

Dear Ann Landers: So many people are unaware of the help available to them free of charge. Will you kindly print this information in your column? I learned of it at a church meeting last night, went home, checked it out and it works fine.

The federal government provides hot-line services of all kinds for people in distress. If you think you have been denied housing because of race, color, sex, religion or national origin, call 800-424-8590. The Housing Discrimination Hot-Line will explain your rights. It is open seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

If you want to check the safety of toys or any products such as a new appliance, call the Consumer Product Safety Commission Hot-Line —

800-638-2666. Open 24 hours a day.

Runaway children can get counseling by calling 800-621-4000. If they want to contact their parents, a recorded message will be taken and relayed — free of charge. This service is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Moving Hot-Line helps people with complaints regarding moving from state to state. They will also check into complaints having to do with buses and trains. The number to call is 800-424-9312. Open from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 4:40 p.m. Monday through Friday. Sign me. — Helpful Hilda

Dear Hilda: You are helpful indeed.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a dedicated worker in a hospital auxiliary that does many wonderful things for handicapped children and adults. I feel very good about this group but one thing grates the daylight out of me.

I can name at least 25 women who brag about being active members, yet they do nothing but pay their dues and attend meetings when it doesn't interfere with their social life. They refuse to accept any committee assignments and do absolutely no work.

What can be done about these lazy-bones? — J.P.M.

Dear J.P.M.: Nothing. Just continue to collect their dues and use the money to good advantage.

Every organization has its wheelhorses and sparkplugs — then there are the other 94 per cent. There will always be "joiners" and "doers." Take it from me — the "doers" have the most fun.

Mallory: It was scary

Injury to Perry leaves Colorado team shaken

KANSAS CITY (AP) — While Tom Perry lay critically injured in a hospital Saturday night his shaken Colorado teammates drew near to pray for him.

"They gathered together on the plane and had a prayer," Colorado Coach Bill Mallory said Monday at the Big Eight coaches briefing. "It really shook everybody. I guarantee you it was a scary thing."

Perry, a big, talented senior linebacker and top professional prospect, suffered head injuries in Colorado's game at Nebraska Saturday. After the game he went into convulsions and was rushed to a hospital in Lincoln. Transferred that night to an Omaha hospital, he underwent a five-hour operation and was in critical condition. His condition was listed as fair Monday and Mallory said the reports sounded "very encouraging."

"I can't say enough about how great the people in Nebraska were," Mallory added. "Everyone did a fabulous job."

Mallory scrutinized films of the near-fatal play, which occurred early in the fourth period as Nebraska was beginning to take control of the game.

"He made the tackle, and as he made the hit you could see his head swing to the left. The jolt didn't look that severe, but it must have been."

That a superbly conditioned, well coached young athlete could be so critically injured on a routine play cast a disturbing pall over the entire briefing.

Mallory said Perry came off the field, feeling wobbly, after the play, but insisted he felt okay and was allowed to resume action.

"The doctors were right there with him and he seemed to be okay. The doctors cleared him. He said he felt fine and he seemed in good shape when he went back in."

But as Mallory was talking to reporters after the game Perry suddenly went into convulsions in the dressing room.

Mallory said doctors found bleeding in two areas of the brain and the operation required 6 pints of blood.

Colorado has been struck by two highly unusual injuries this season. Earlier, running back Mike Kozlowski suffered a punctured lung on a tackle. No ribs were broken, but still the lung was punctured.

"We've had two real scary ones," Mallory said. "When you rush to the hospital and see one of your players fighting for his life, that really shakes you. I get shook just talking about it."

Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma was asked to assess the validity of national polls in light of scholarship cutbacks that have made it increasingly difficult to field a "super" team.

"You never really know who's the No. 1 team in the country," said Switzer, who collected national championship trophies in 1974 and '75.

"It will always be the team that's unscarred and unmarked, regardless of whether it's the best team or not. The pollsters are going to recognize an undefeated team."

Switzer and the other Big Eight coaches were certain that Texas, the only unbeaten major college team now, would zoom to the top this week.

"You can say Texas is better than Oklahoma because Texas played Oklahoma and beat Oklahoma," Switzer said. "But you can't say Texas is better than Michigan because Texas isn't going to play Michigan. There are probably some teams that could go 12-0 and never be national champions because they aren't recognized as such by the press. The teams that are in the top 20 every year, if one of them goes undefeated they're certain to be the national champion."

Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne agreed with Switzer

that the leveling-off created by scholarship and recruiting limitations is going to curtail the number of unbeaten teams.

"Usually at this time of year there are still three or four unbeaten teams," he said. "Now I think Texas is about the only one. And another interesting thing is this — I don't think we've played one bad team yet. Usually we've beaten somebody 55-0 or thereabouts, but not this year. Either we're not very good or they're a lot better. I tend to think the other teams are a lot better."

Cardinals not griping about officiating now

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals say a rarely imposed penalty baffled them while they were en route to their 49-31 triumph Sunday over the New Orleans Saints.

But the coach of the Cards, Don Coryell, gratefully acknowledged Monday that the ruling in the opening quarter ultimately helped them prevail in the wild National Football League contest.

The penalty, for illegally "batting" the ball, was assessed against New Orleans after Saints defensive end Bob Pollard burst through to block Jim Bakken's attempted field goal from the Saints' 20.

A wild scramble for the ball ensued, with Cards holder Roger Wehrli eventually scooping it up and running out of bounds at New Orleans' 14 after several players had hands on it.

That brought about a lengthy huddle of the officials.

When it ended, confusion still hung over players from both teams as St. Louis was moved half the distance to the goal line for a first down at the 7.

As it turned out, the penalty was called against Saints linebacker Jim Merlo, who was ruled to have slapped the ball as it bounced along Busch Stadium's artificial turf.

"It was unclear to me at the time," Coryell admitted, however. "What I thought was that they had jumped up on each other's backs to slap the ball. I haven't heard anything different, but I understand one of their people slapped the ball toward their own goal."

Bolstered by the ruling, the Cards scored two plays later on Wayne Morris' 9-yard run. The touchdown gave them a 21-0 lead and enabled them to weather a three-touchdown New Orleans rally in the second quarter.

At Monday's Quarterback Club luncheon, Coryell defended St. Louis' beleaguered defenses by labeling the struggling Saints an "explosive team" despite their 1-5 record.

"The biggest problem is stopping their running backs, not only from running but from catching the ball," he said. "We were concerned about them more than we were about their receivers."

Saints reserve quarterback Bobby Scott, playing in place of injured Archie Manning, threw three touchdown aeriels in the offensive battle. But the contest's payoff pitch was Terry Metcalf's 11-yard halfback pass to Mel Gray for the Cards' winning score early in the final period.

"It's an option play," Coryell said of Metcalf's toss, his second for a completion of the day. "He's run several of the plays this year. Only until now, they've looked like end sweeps. It was a good spiral. It dropped in there perfectly."

In a near-unanimous vote, the amazing Texas Longhorns are the new No. 1 team in college football.

Picked by most experts to finish somewhere around the middle of the Southwest Conference, 6-0 Texas surged to the top of The Associated Press poll today by defeating Southern Methodist 30-14, while previously unbeaten Michigan was upset by Minnesota 16-0 and skidded from first place to sixth.

Texas received 65 first-place votes and a near-perfect 1,336 of a possible 1,340 points from a nationwide panel of 67 sports writers and broadcasters.

Taking advantage of Michigan's loss, Alabama, Ohio State, Oklahoma and Notre Dame all moved ahead of the Wolverines.

Alabama, No. 3 a week ago, inched up to second by pasting Louisville 55-6. The Crimson Tide received 1,077 points.

Ohio State moved from fourth to third with one first-place vote and 963 points for a 35-15 licking of Northwestern. The Buckeyes were followed by Oklahoma, a 35-16 victor over Iowa State, with 952 points.

Notre Dame vaulted from 11th to fifth with 740 points by trouncing Southern California 49-19 while the losers dropped from fifth to 10th.

Sixth-place Michigan received 719 points while Kentucky climbed from eighth to seventh with the remaining first-place ballot and 610 points by crushing Georgia 33-0. The two voters who didn't rate Texas No. 1 had the Longhorns second on their ballots.

Arkansas, a 34-0 winner over Houston, rose from ninth to eighth with 505 points. The Razorbacks were trailed by Penn State, which turned back West Virginia 49-28 and jumped from from 10th to ninth with 484 points. Southern Cal, the No. 10 team, received 315 points.

In 1919 jockey Johnny Loftus became the first to win the triple crown.

Ram controversy ends as Haden directs rout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Namath, in the twilight of an illustrious career, now knows that youth must be served.

Fran Tarkenton also might be giving a little thought to the prospect after the Minnesota Vikings fell 35-3 to the Los Angeles Rams and youthful Rhodes Scholar Pat Haden.

It was a triumph for the 24-year-old Haden before a near full house at the Coliseum and a national television audience. He won his spurs last season and then lost them to Ram newcomer Namath at the start of this National Football League season.

The Rams were 2-2 with Namath at the helm before Haden again got the call against New Orleans and came out on the winning end of a 14-7 score. The route of defending NFC champion Minnesota ended any doubt that Haden was No. 1 and that Namath, acquired from the New York Jets as a free agent, was No. 2.

Haden credited his teammates on the offensive platoon, saying: "They just gave me great protection all night. Most of the time I had time to count the house, eat a snow cone and then throw the ball."

Haden ran 7 yards for the first touchdown and passed 2 and 9 to Charlie Young and Harold Jackson for the next two TDs. Late in the game, he accepted the suggestion of guard Dennis Harrah and called a play on which Wendell Tyler dashed 44 yards for the final touchdown.

Coach Chuck Knox declared, "This game puts an end to the quarterback controversy."

Former Southern California star Haden added, "Yes, I expect to start against New Orleans next Sunday."

Now 4-2, Los Angeles is tied with Atlanta in the NFC West Division. Minnesota, despite the loss, stays atop the NFC Central Division at 4-2.

Even at the game's end, Knox kept Namath on the bench and inserted No. 3 quarterback Vince Ferragamo to finish up.

"I didn't want to put Namath in on a situation when we are ahead 35-3," said Knox. "We felt it was a good chance to give Ferragamo some work." Knox has wrestled with the youth vs. age quarterback situation since Namath joined the team last summer.

Haden hit 12 passes of 21 attempts for 116 yards and the two touchdowns and rushed three times for 13 yards, including the initial score.

Tarkenton, the 37-year-old Minnesota quarterback, hit 10 of 27 for 108 yards and had two picked off — both by cornerback Pat Thomas. And both led to scores by Los Angeles.

Haden said he called most of the plays except the pass to Young "and the one that Harrah called."

He explained: "It wasn't in the game plan. Harrah kept telling me all through the third quarter that it would work. More or less to shut him up, I called it."

Earlier, a 13-yard run by rookie Tyler from UCLA set up a 1-yard touchdown plunge by John Cappelletti.

The only Minnesota score came on a 42-yard field goal by Fred Cox with 20 seconds gone in the fourth quarter. Bob Lee had taken over for Tarkenton at that time and engineered the drive.

New head coach guides Lincoln

By RON HIGGINS
Staff SportsWriter

LINCOLN — A new face is guiding the Lincoln Cardinals this year toward their main objective — another winning season. The man at the helm of the Cardinals this year is head coach Dennis Croskey, who received his masters degree last year at Central Missouri State University. He was also assistant basketball coach there.

Croskey takes over a team that finished last season with a respectable 14-11 record and a 6-2 Kaysinger Conference mark. The only conference losses were to Sacred Heart and to the conference champion Stover Bulldogs.

Croskey replaced Roger Newell, who coached the Cardinals since 1974 and guided them to a 38-36 record over that span. Newell is now a counselor at Lincoln.

"They've been 14-11 the past two years," said Croskey of the Cardinals. And this year he hopes to put some consistency in the Cardinal squad. "All I'm concerned with is getting them to play hard and as well as they can."

The new Lincoln boss noted last year the Cardinals were 10-4 at one point of the season and he hopes to keep the team up. "My job is to keep them up there and hopefully we'll have a pretty good year if we can get off to a good start."

Lincoln lost one of its two top scorers from last year, Rick Rank. Rank held a 13.2 scoring average and was tied with this year's 6-4 senior center John Keehn in scoring. Also gone this year are Jack Ficken, Mike Ragar, Larry Spencer, and Dexter Dixon. "I don't know much about the departed players," Croskey said. "Just their names."

Joining Keehn on the 12-man roster are: Steve Kroenke, a 5-10 senior guard-forward; Larry Olson, a 5-9 senior guard; Brad Kauble, a 5-11 senior guard; Rick Swearngin, a 5-8 senior guard; Steve Wright, a 5-10 senior guard; Monte Young, a 5-11 junior guard; Ken Proctor, a 6-0 sophomore guard; Delmar Griffith, a 6-1 junior forward; Barry Rigby, a 6-2 sophomore forward; Ronnie Roark, a 6-1 junior forward; and Van Mellen, a 6-1 junior forward-center.

Croskey said Kroenke, Young, and Keehn have the most varsity experience and will be valuable to the team this year. "We're going to try to find break more this year than in the past," said the coach. "We're pretty good at guard, so that will allow us to do that."

"We've worked on defense," Croskey noted. "I like to play good tight pressure defense — everybody does." Croskey said the forwards are going to be the key to the team's progress this year. "We've got a couple of good forwards, but we'll have to wait and see how they come along."

The Lincoln coach reported he was pleased with the practices so far. "With a new coach and all, they have to learn a new system and the drills are different," he said. "They're starting to come around pretty good. I think potentially, we could be a pretty good team."

The schedule could play a big part in Lincoln's favor, too. "Seven of our first eight games are at home," noted Croskey. "If we get off to a pretty good start, we'll be all right."

In anticipation of the conference tournament seedings, Croskey said he wouldn't be surprised to see his Cardinals seeded anywhere from first to seventh. The Cardinals ended up with a fifth seed. "Stover is the defending conference champion coming off a big year, so I'll have to go with Stover until they are beaten. I have great respect for C.L. Brownsberger (Stover head coach)."

Croskey also said Warsaw and Cole Camp will be tough. Lincoln has six seniors on this year's squad and experience is a big asset to any team. The Cardinals could be in the tight race for the conference title.

Big Eight honors to MU's Woods

KANSAS CITY (AP) — How do you separate leadership and athletic ability?

You don't, not with a quarterback like Pete Woods who incorporates both those winning ingredients.

Woods, the Missouri senior who is just beginning to find his true form after a disabling knee injury in the season opener, was selected Big Eight Offensive Player of the week Monday for his performance in the Tigers' 28-13 victory over Kansas State.

Woods passed for 205 yards and one touchdown against Kansas State in only his second full game. The week before, he returned to action and threw for 262 yards against Oklahoma.

"He's not full speed yet," said Tiger Coach Al Onofrio. "Only around the 10-yard line was he able to run a little bit. We hope he continues to improve."

"Physically, Pete is very talented," Onofrio said. "But he is also a good leader. It's hard to separate the two, but he's both. And all that has an effect on the other players, no question about it."

Told that the Missouri offense seems to "come alive" with Woods on the field, Onofrio said, "it has to, because of his ability. As versatile and talented as he is, there is no question that he makes a great difference in our team."

Exhibition bout

CHICAGO (AP) — Muhammad Ali has announced plans to hold a five-round exhibition match here Dec. 2, with proceeds to go to the Children's Institute for Developmental Disabilities.

A spokesman for the world heavyweight champion said Monday that Ali will meet Scott Ledoux in the exhibition in the Auditorium Theater.

Ledoux earned a draw last Saturday with undefeated Olympic champion Leon Spinks in a televised bout at Las Vegas.

Carew top vote-getter among AP all-stars

NEW YORK (AP) — A .388 batting average, 239 hits, 128 runs scored, 14 home runs and 100 runs batted in. Even Rod Carew would be impressed by those statistics.

Since those numbers belong to the Minnesota first baseman, it is understandable that he was the leading vote-getter on The Associated Press' 1977 American League All-Star team. Carew, after having the best season of his illustrious career, impressed a whopping 405 of 422 voters in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters across the country.

Joining Carew on the AL squad was teammate Larry Hise, who led the league with 119 RBI, in addition to 27 home runs and a .301 batting average. Hise led the outfield voting with 195 votes, six ahead of Baltimore's Ken Singleton and 24 votes more than collected by Bobby Bonds of California. New York's Reggie Jackson, the most valuable player in the World Series, was fourth.

The world champion New York Yankees placed one player on the squad, second baseman Willie Randolph, who gathered 108 votes in easily outdistancing rookie Bump Wills of Texas. Several Yankees placed second at their positions, including catcher Thurman Munson, who lost out to Boston's Carlton Fisk 260-116, third baseman Graig Nettles, whose finished 97 votes behind Kansas City's George Brett, and lefthanded reliever Sparky Lyle, who wound up second to Frank Tanana in balloting for the top left-handed hurler in the AL. Yankee left-handers Ron Guidry and Don Gullett followed Lyle in the voting, giving New York three of the top four lefthanders.

The right-handed pitcher on the team was Jim Palmer of Baltimore.

Aside from Fisk, Boston's Rick Burleson was named a starter at shortstop with 231 votes and Jim Rice was selected the designated hitter with a 291-vote total. It was the first time the designated hitter spot was included on the team.

Buzz Fazio Open

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — Mike Berlin of Muscatine, Iowa, won his third Professional Bowlers Association title this year with a 128-pin victory over Don Bell in the $60,000 Buzz Fazio Open.

Berlin, who was in 23rd place after the cut, finished with games of 238, 248, 239, 175, 225, 195, and 199. He had a 42-game pinfall of 9,951 and a match record of 17-7.

Betting halted

NEW YORK (AP) — The state Racing and Wagering Board has told Off-Track Betting officials in western New York to stop their lottery-style promotion keyed to televised Monday night football.

Fred A. Herman, president of Western Region OTB Corp., was ordered to appear before the board Monday to explain why he started the promotion without the board's consent.

Herman said that OTB had been losing $100,000 each Monday because two local tracks were idle that day and area gamblers were uninterested in betting on downstate races.

The promotion, which did not cost anything to enter, gave $50 worth of free bets to anyone picking the exacta in a specified race if the two numbers were the same as the total number of points scored in the Monday pro football game.

For example, if the 2-1 exacta won and the two teams scored 21 points total in the Monday football game, anyone with a 2-1 promotion ticket would win the free bets.

None of the more than 5,000 persons who participated in last week's game won.

Jury selection due to begin in Goldstein obscenity trial

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Jury selection was to begin Tuesday in the retrial of Alvin Goldstein, and the portly publisher of Screw and Smut magazines announced that he is ready "to do battle."

Goldstein, charged with mailing obscene materials to Kansas, claims the federal government conspired to have its agents in Kansas subscribe to his magazines because they believed he would be convicted in the state.

Why else, he asked, would the government hold the trial in Kansas, 1,500 miles from his home, family and business?

"But they may have underestimated Kansans," he said.

It was the only optimistic statement he had to offer, repeating his claim that his chances for acquittal were about the same as a Jew in Germany in 1939.

"There is no victim," he insisted, pointing out that Screw magazine was never sold on any newsstand in the state. "The only people who have been offended are four postal inspectors and the FBI. "We're going to show them we're in court," Goldstein said at a news conference after his arrival from New York Monday. "We're not going to take any crap and we're going to shoot from the hip."

Goldstein said he is feeling better and has recovered somewhat from a tracheotomy performed in June. But he coughed frequently and still wore a four-inch tube in his throat to help him breathe.

The trial will be held in U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Kan., Judge Frank This presiding.

Goldstein, James Buckley, his former partner in Milky Way Productions and the company are charged with mailing copies of Screw and Smut into Kansas.

They were convicted last summer in Wichita, Kan., but Theirs overturned the verdict and granted a new trial on grounds that the prosecution had made prejudicial statements in its summation to the jury.

Goldstein's new trial was

Decision reversed

MINNEAPOLIS — The University of Minnesota reversed itself and voted to declare Big Ten basketball scoring champion Michael Thompson and Dave Winney ineligible.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association had placed the entire University of Minnesota men's athletic program on probation on Oct. 21, 1976 for failing to comply with an NCAA ruling calling on Minnesota to declare Thompson and Winney ineligible.

At that time, the NCAA charged that Thompson was selling complimentary season basketball tickets for more than their face value. Winney was alleged to have accepted free lodging from a university booster at a Wisconsin lake cabin.

Following the NCAA probation decree, the university took the matter to court and won a decision in federal district court. However, an appeals court last summer sided with the NCAA and upheld the probation, forcing Minnesota to reconsider its position.

When asked how long he expected the trial to last, Goldstein said, "Until they build the gallows," then predicted a five-week trial.

The bearded publisher also announced that he and Larry Flynt, publisher of Hustler magazine, had signed an agreement to begin distribution of their magazines in Kansas.

"They said I was out here doing business," said Goldstein, "so I'm going to get out here and do business."

Myers complained that when he leaves home in the morning, he doesn't know if a prolonged debate or committee meeting will delay his return that evening.

"I don't want to wake up suddenly a couple of years from now, see my kids on the high school graduation stage and realize I didn't even know them at all," he said.

His public life has cut into the time he spends with his wife, Myers said. They don't go out as much and Mrs. Myers finds herself alone at home more often than before, he said.

Before his election, he was a foreman at the Arco steel plant in Butler. His old job has been filled by someone else, he said, and he doesn't know what he'll be doing when he returns.

Whatever it is, he faces a hefty salary cut, to less than half the $57,500 he makes as a congressman.

Myers ignored tips from political pros to slowly work his way up the ranks — from local elective office, to the state legislature, to the Congress.

"You just don't have to wait, or go through training," said Myers, pointing to his own career. He ran for the House in 1972, lost, but tried again and won a seat for 1975.

Myers also vows never to seek another political position, comparing his two terms in Congress to a tour of military duty. "Once it's over, it's time to move on," he said.

for the receivership and noted that it was up to the Cole County Circuit Court to ultimately approve the way the state would take care of the matter.

He also said that similar state legal business has been doled out to friends of governor's in past administrations.

"I will not recommend any lawyer for state work who is not honest and competent," the governor said.

On another matter, Teasdale said his office would begin looking into reports of irregularities in the operations of the state Agriculture Department concerning relocation expenses and travel.

But the governor said his limited review of those reports concerning excessive relocation expense payments to top department officials has revealed no improprieties.

He said Commissioner of Administration Stephen Bradford would develop a standardized policy for relocation expense payments as a result of the reports.

The governor said he had no information about use of a state airplane for travel to a democratic political function last spring.

SFCC program looks at aid for students

"Meeting the Costs of College," a program to explain types of financial aid available to students planning to attend a Missouri college next year, will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Yeater Learning Center at State Fair Community College.

The meeting is free to both parents and students. No advance registration is necessary.

The program will examine eligibility for various programs, how and when to apply for financial aid and changes in the application process.
